I want to perform a partial split-plot design in which both predictors are evaluated at different treatments: Set for x_1 and Sow for x_2 What is the constant part of the overall ANOVA model for this split-plot design? Since the predictors are themselves manipulated by experimental units, the reference level is probably each $\mathrm{Set} \times \mathrm{Sow}$ combination as a whole? So I would have $y \sim \mathrm{Set} \times \mathrm{Sow} + \epsilon$ where the error term ϵ is random and normally distributed. The interaction term $\mathrm{Set} \times \mathrm{Sow}$ contains the variation due to Set and Sow which I would be interested in. The treatment components Set and Sow are themselves manipulated by experimental units, i.e., they are crossed in my sample. Is this model right? What do I do if I have the reference level to be the overall effect of the treatment (i.e., the full-split-plot design) instead? In that case, the reference level is $\mathrm{Set} \times \mathrm{Sow}$, rather than each set-by-sow combination, so I would have $y \sim \mathrm{math}$

The description of a footballvirtualtournament for the, but you can plug in aÃ .THIS ENTIRE SEASON OF BORDER TOWN HAS BEEN TOO DAMN LONG!!! I HATE IT. Can you even imagine waiting 3 years for a professional football team to release another border town? I think I missed the same team winning 5 conferences in 3 years. That means the best team of the last 3 years hasn't won in over 2 years. This has got to be the best franchise in sports. At least the Cleveland Browns have similar drama. Hell the Dallas Cowboys and San Diego Chargers are prettier than the team that has succeeded all this time. But, I digress. I need to get my fill of the A&M-Cotton Bowl. I want to see that creepy old man from Paris kissing the Lady Gaga before the half. That's all I ask for. Pass me the damn $5 beer. I had a lot of fun this weekend. I went into Cotton Bowl with my uncle and cousin and they didn't spend all that much money. I never have fun when I go into College Bowl, but this year I did. We sat right in the front of the student section and right in the middle of the more expensive bars/restaurants. I also went to a BBQ and did a ton of shots of Jagermeister. The whole time I think he was going to have us all arrested. He came over to us and I swear he had some kind of a problem with us sitting in his seat. I think his problem was that we had a baby on board. But honestly, I'm sure he had a more reasonable problem that we were in his seat. My mom told me I was going to be arrested if I did shots or brought alcohol. But she also said, "Grow up, this is College Bowl." Because I didn't wanna be arrested for anything, I didn't bring alcohol. Also I think it was a little after midnight. It was an adult buffet. We had
