We've partnered with EA Sports to test FIFA 19 on a number of platforms, including the Xbox One and PlayStation 4, and the results were surprising. The core gameplay of FIFA 19 is still the same as on previous titles in the franchise, but it just feels smoother and quicker. The ball is more responsive and more accurate, which is exactly what fans have been asking for. For FIFA 19 we upgraded the physics model and the ball to make the ball feel more stable and in-keeping with the sport of soccer. The Xbox One X and PlayStation 4 Pro bring a new level of visual fidelity to the games and we've included some exclusive features for them. But these weren't the only differences between the platforms; there are many more. The PlayStation 4 Pro brings new visual features and enhancements to FIFA 19, offering players the most in-depth, photo-realistic views of the game - similar to how FIFA 16 looked on PlayStation 4. As with FIFA 17 and FIFA 18, players can select from over 300 licensed head and player models, and more than 100 player behaviors. The game also supports a wide range of player perspectives and camera angles, letting players view the pitch from over the top of the stadium, as if they were watching the game live from the stands or hovering above the pitch like an eagle. There is also full-spectrum lighting, with four different light categories (day, day with sunset, day with daybreak, night) and over 20 million real-time lights and 10,000 individual lights, all of which can be animated, scaled and rotated depending on the weather conditions of the game. FIFA 19 also uses hyper visual fidelity to introduce a HDR lighting engine. This lighting system includes a wide variety of different types of HDR lights that can be used by the game to create a variety of different HDR lighting effects. This new lighting engine makes the world of FIFA 19 look incredibly lifelike, even when the details are small. The "God Mode" is a new feature in FIFA 19, which allows you to utilize some power ups that can be earned by playing certain modes. It's not the most "valuable" power up as the soccer world won't be going to the moon any time soon, but it makes the game much more enjoyable and rewarding when you finally unlock it. We learned a

Since the launch of our first online community, we've been working to build something special. Something completely new. Something that would allow you to enjoy the beautiful game the way we imagined it. Until then, we were creating a sport game, right? What if we take your favorite sport and make it into a game? We'd add new ways to play that would be fun for both sides - If you play for fun, you can play against friends. If you play for glory, you can go head-to-head against the best players from around the world. You can also play against people from around the world in tournaments (which we call FUT Champions).
