Download

This is a pixel platform game. There are two players. You play the first player, and your opponent plays the second player. These two players fight in a 2D platformer-like game mode. There are in total 6 stages with 5 levels in each. The rules of the game are rather simple. You will be a pixel, and you will run as far as possible along the floor, via pressing the arrow keys. You will have to eat a dot to survive, which comes from the opponent. When you die, you will be removed from the floor and your opponent will take your place. There are also obstacles that you have to avoid. There are also special attacks that you can execute via using the mouse. The dot within your square box will move toward the enemy and you can perform certain attacks

(taunt, counter, etc.). The dot will move with the mouse also. You can also use a special attack while your opponent is eating a dot (when he has nothing else). The player that eats all the dots in the moment will be defeated. Controls: The game supports windows, mac and linux in 32/64bit. You can run it on Mac OS X and Linux with a GUI window. The GUI on windows should work without a problem with a 800x600 resolution. On Mac OS X you need a GUI window. On linux, you need to select a window type. License: This is a shareware application. You can still play the full game until the counter hits the limit. The license is for both Linux and Mac OS. Tell me what you think! Beat the game! 82.5 MB Open source Developer: Games-Arc Release: 2016-12-03 Windows/Mac/Linux/HTML5 Buy Page This is an open source freeware game/platformer game. The game is available for Windows, Mac, and Linux. It includes an online ranking system and a game organizer. The game has a normal mode, a try-hard mode and a survival mode. Additionally, the game features a mini game (action game) to help with improving your punching skill. The try-hard mode will contain 25 levels and the online ranking system are higher so players may win a title. The level limit is 100,000 points for every player. 85.1 MB Open source Developer: Spendbox al War: The Saga is a base defense game with an emphasis on detail and graphics. A game with very high production values, the graphics are simply stunning, though tactical gameplay can be rather slow. What makes it perfect for a weekend of war game is its very addictive nature. Similar to the popular strategy game, TIERRA - WAR COMING, Ideal War offers players the chance to command military base and to use a variety of weapons and weaponry. Players have to choose whether to use their money to improve the existing arsenal or to purchase new weapons. Tactical gameplay: Easy to understand, with a large number of options. Different weapon types and types of protection. Choose between tanks, infantry, turrets and light arms. Beside a dozen different turrets, players will have access to: - Granite walls to cover them - Vital counter-attack stations - Upgraded, multi-turret turrets - Divert your opponent's troops to a given part of your base - Enemy mines, which the enemy will send to capture your base - Several anti-aircraft units that will help you to defend yourself from your opponent's unmanned flying machines. - Excellent user interface to help you plan your strategies - You will command your troops with a secondary screen - Of course, the game is also playable on a smartphone, tablet or computer without the need for a tablet. In order to activate additional features of the app, you will also be charged a minimal annual fee. Features: - Different types of machines and weapons: tanks, infantry, turrets and light arms -

t's new:

Summary: Story: "Fashion Forward," in Reference to The Lack of Fashion I'm sure there's a story in it, but it's been a long time since I wrote it. It all started in a self-publishing forum when my friend Greg from Infection brought up the fact that The Little Big Book of Why I Bitch about Something has been over 5 years old, and no one has written anything else for him since. So that's where this is coming from, a wanting of something new for my large friend. I know I had some notes for it, but right now I've gotta go through my older mess of notes to find it. Go figure. Extras: Comments from Judge Judy, how awesome would that be?! Notes: The notes I'm going to show here are a combination of personal notes from when I wrote this and the notes from my study-version of it. UPDATE: Some of the comments on this are because, when I was 16 years old, that was about what I was thinking when I created this. I'll try and work with that in mind, to try and change the sentiments when writing it out for the new version. Warnings: Some of the material in this story is incredibly offensive to some people. Some may trigger people. I'm trying to write something going for humor, something that is challenging and fun to read. I've only written small parts of this story here. I mostly wrote when I was in high school, so I now have horrible spelling and grammar. However, the evil is only slightly worse. Tribbles and The Devil I know some of you, those of you reading this, may be asking, "Grav? Evil? What are you talking about?" Well, it's for good reason. Trust me on that. And I appreciate you taking time to read what I have to say. Now, for those of you reading who aren't aware of The Little Big Book of Why I Bitch About Something, let me give you a summary of it for a moment. Basically, I wrote this in High School, when I still believed in the ABSOLUTE existence of God, in the sense that I believed that something was perfect and that it existed whether we lived our lives or not. Now, throughout my life since then, I've come to find much of my ideals questioned
