Godzilla 2 In this game you have to find and destroy 12 mutative fuel that were stolen by the military base. With it, you can build and upgrade your mech to achieve ultimate power, and destroy all the base. But first, you have to reach the base. Features:Attack various enemy(Projectile,Melee,Monster)You will have to travel to various areas.But you will have to follow some rules.If you destroy 5 buildings you lose points, if you collect 10, you'll earn a combo attack, if you destroy a character, you get points.After each time, you will get upgraded.This is a good game to pass time while waiting for the live match to start. Reviews A few of the best time-killers are Battleship, Minesweeper, Chivalry, and Crossword Dash Iron BrigadeIron Brigade is a top-down tactical tactics game with an epic battle for dominance of the Kingdom of Tristia between the Kingdom of Travania and the Kingdom of Altdorf. It uses the new Unity game engine.Features:* Different military units (infantry, cavalry, infantry/cavalry)* Different types of castles (holds, keeps, and palaces)* Different battlefields (forests, plains, mountains, hills)* 16 different battle sequences against enemy units, enemy generals and enemy castles. Reviews The most realistic war simulation game we've seen since Front Mission and Shogun 2 Doctor DinosaurDoctor Dinosaur is a sandbox game in which you will play as a doctor and you will be helping dinosaurs live in the prehistoric world.Features:* Sandbox gameplay* Morphological functions (Massive generation)* Diplomacy options * Advanced technologies* Various diseases* Complicated H1N1 epidemic* Customizable stats and equipment of dinosaurs* Special weapons for dinos (laser beam, grapple, hypodermic gun, etc.)* Special equipment for you (combo attack, invincibility, life potions, etc.)* Experience points and prizes* Randomized locations for dinosaurs* Exploration of different locations Reviews I think the big downside to the game is the lack of enemy AI on all levels of the game. You can pick up a dinosaur and throw him at a golem, but it would be smarter just to go kill the golem, for more xp and points, but then the dinosaur is pretty much totally useless. The animation is always the same, and it's not like there are enough dinosaurs to warrant trying

Ready to drift with the tides of metal? We've got you covered. Follow the waves, the money, the inspiration and the commentary that make metal rise to be the most diverse of all the genres of music you're enjoying. Think of it as a one-stop shop for all your metal media duties. Hear it on the radio? Read it in a magazine? Read it on Metal-Rules? We've got you covered. Each month, Metal-Rules gathers together the music from popular music journals like Modern Drummer, Songfacts, Guitar World and Schecter's Drummer Gold to give it and you the loudest, finest, most intense and varied metal you can imagine. For the past four years, we've condensed the monthly publications into six, then 12, then 24, then 48 issues to make it the most convenient, best-presented and most-accessible metal magazine on the planet. All proceeds from this magazine will be used to fund future newsletter items like these. Don't miss the next issue and continue enjoying metal. Note: This month's print issue can only be purchased through the Webmaster. It will not be released for public sale. If you would like a copy of the print version, please click here. There's sort of a national 'injury time' for some musicians, a time when they are legitimately incapable of working and should not be left to do so. I'm not a doctor or a psychologist, but I doubt very much that Rammstein, Fantômas, Judas Priest, The Moody Blues, Public Enemy or Metallica are in anything like that category. All these bands are touring almost every month of the year. Which is good for Rammstein, and bad for the rest of us. Photos.com Rammstein played the United States for the first time last month when they supported Metallica at the tour's first U.S. stop, New Jersey's BB&T Pavilion. They returned this month to close out the tour when they supported Guns N' Roses at Chicago's Aragon Ballroom. What can you expect from a band who've sold more than 15 million records worldwide and have been around for nearly 20 years? I would suggest that you expect the unexpected. At the start of any Rammstein show, a female dancer appears onstage beating drums and encouraging those gathered to pick up where she left off. They embrace the diverting, visually mesmerizing phenomenon.
