"I've been a part of the music industry as a musician, songwriter and producer for more than 20 years, and I've seen it grow from small clubs to enormous arenas. No matter what you may think of it, no matter what kind of music you like, music is the soundtrack of our lives. I like to think of Battle Bands as the deckbuilder's soundtrack. The songs you'll hear here are the ones we use to get our creative juices flowing every time we sit down to make a new deck for Battle Bands." - David Sievekorn, composer and sound artist Blizzard Entertainment, the maker of World of Warcraft®, has announced the details for the soundtrack to its anticipated Xbox® 360® video game World of Warcraft®: Battle for Azeroth, which launches on September 4, 2018. Like the game itself, the soundtrack explores a wide variety of genres and styles, from acoustic to heavy metal, and features vocal performances by the likes of fans' favorite Battle Bands™, including a track featured in Blizzard's legendary card game Hearthstone® by famed composer and guitarist Zakk Wylde (Black Label Society®). "Blizzard Entertainment is an innovator in game-play, with a rich history of creating music that's had an impact on how people interact with games," said David Sievekorn, composer on Battle for Azeroth. "He has a knack for creating memorable experiences from live rock shows and rock genres that we don't see often in game music. We're excited to see what he and other Battle Bands bring to World of Warcraft." Battle Bands Soundtracks for video games almost always feature a handful of songs

Hospitalists spend more than half their time providing direct patient care, which puts them in a prime position to effect compliance improvements for Medicare. Understanding how hospitalists manage and document the evidence that forms the basis for therapy and coding is a prerequisite for ensuring compliance with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) CPT-4 update. The CPT-4 update is driven by the current Society of Hospital Medicine (SHM) and CMS requests for feedback. The executive summary of SHM's 2007 survey reports that half of respondents (51%) are at least somewhat familiar with the new CPT-4 edition; another 28% are not sure. Those who are unfamiliar with the CPT-4 anticipate using the new manual for only 10% of their new coding encounters. Half (51%) of hospitalists surveyed said that they have used the new manual in the past three years. The executive summary also reports that most respondents (83%) will need 2 weeks to get familiar with the new manual. This article includes a brief overview of the update, how to learn about compliance issues, and a summary of the survey results.

It will undergo further editing] In this post, I will present my own findings and results from my analysis of the game, followed by an explanation and critique of the functionality and resulting implications. I will proceed in this order to make it easier to read and follow. I have researched and analyzed the MvMvM mode in the game, using the popular statistics gathering and analysis system of [Crusher]. From among the thousands of players, I have selected two players who have played significant amounts of MvMvM and were ones who have interesting playstyles and achievements. These are Raito and Vinhe. Raito is a creature and monster hunter character for which he has made a great deal of money, which has entitled him to his latest rank of A. Vorhees is a hatless, mop-wearing fellow, very greedy and perhaps rightly known as the "most hated player in VS." Vinhe is a plant eating charizard fan, which is why he has the most monsters. The first thing I will do is to basically break down what happened in the battle between Vinhe and Raito in simple English. In-game footage of the fight is provided by Vinhe, shown in the video below. Note the following information. The blue sphere is Raito. Vinhe's character is Crocodile. Vinhe's initial get hit was taken into account by Crusher of the F-1 rank with 15 percent normal taken into account. A flyby was taken into account with Crusher of the S-1 rank. The first time Raito uses Quake, Vinhe's Normal Damage to Players is taken into account as +2.5. The second time Raito uses Quake, Vinhe's Normal Damage to Players is taken into account as -4. The second time Raito uses Quake, Vinhe's Stun Duration Reduction is taken into account as +20.
