

What is title the format price happiness A: I'm not a python expert. But I think you can use something like this to scrape your text out of Google:

import urllib.request as ureq from bs4 import BeautifulSoup import time from cStringIO import StringIO s = ureq.urlopen('').read() soup = BeautifulSoup(s) for t in soup.find_all('div', {'class': 'tj'}): print(t.text) time.sleep(2)

And then you can copy the html from the webbrowser into a text file, make the same edit to your list of parameters, and then re-request the website without the sleep. Something like this:

import urllib.request as ureq from bs4 import BeautifulSoup import time from cStringIO import StringIO s = ureq.urlopen('').read() soup = BeautifulSoup(s) for t in soup.find_all('div', {'class': 'tj'}): print(t.text) time.sleep(2)

Another answer suggests to use pyHtmlParser:

import html5lib for t in html5lib.html.parsers.text( '
```
