Attenuation of contrast enhancing effects of 1-beta-D-arabinofuranosylcytosine in rat brain tumor by local administration of trimetaphosphate. Treatment of rats with 1-beta-D-arabinofuranosylcytosine (ara-C), results in the extensive development of contrast enhancing lesions in the brain. This study tests the hypothesis that local administration of the spin label agent, trimetaphosphate (MP-19), which causes marked changes in the chemical properties of the phospholipids of neuronal plasma membrane, will affect the ability of ara-C to cause brain tumor enhancement, and that there is a relationship between the effects of MP-19 administration on phospholipids of the brain tumor and the degree of brain tumor enhancement after ara-C treatment. The administration of MP-19 increased the average number of brain tumor nodules (determined by 10 and 60 day survival times) from 8.1 to 22.8 and 34.3 per animal respectively. Local injection of MP-19 did not attenuate the development of brain tumor enhancement associated with ara-C treatment./***** *
