XII. 3. Why have they returned to the cities so rapidly after the War? In spite of the fact that the Germans were reported to be evacuating the war zone in Breslau and in the advance, they were not evacuating their military units. Instead, they were concentrating on resuming the war in the east. The speed at which the German offensive in the west was being terminated was striking to the Allies. If the German armies in the west could be speeded up, the war could be brought to a swift and a final conclusion by the Allies. [26] Edwards, 1990, p. xv. 7 The appearance of Adolf Hitler in the Bendlerstrasse on April 11th, 1941, at the age of 35, in the clothes of a domestic servant, shocked the Bismarck-era officers. The blue and red triangular military police badge on his chest was in the shape of a swastika. It was the first time the officer caste had seen an up-to-date symbol of Nazi Party propaganda. [27] Edwards, 1990, p. xv, p. xvi. To the officers in the Bendlerstrasse, Hitler was just another aide. "Hitler had not been in the army long enough to be considered an officer," wrote Lucas. "Several of his former generals were still commanding armies. There was another in the Fuhrer School, Field Marshal Keitel, an old and loyal friend of Himmler's, who was also seconded to the Fuehrer's headquarters. He was and had been for years. The Fuhrer himself, unshaven and unkempt, made frequent appearances in his office, chatting with low-ranking officers." Edmonds describes his appearance as looking "sallow and gaunt". [28] Edmonds, 1990, p. xvi. 8 By the end of April, the Allies had all but crushed the Germans in the Mediterranean. Lucas and his fellow officers in the Bendlerstrasse were looking out on a land the size of France. "The previous August, the Germans had spent nearly three months battering their way into France, capturing cities, and hundreds of thousands of prisoners. To the officer caste, this new realization shocked them

Integrated Development Environment. But even if I test the reading of the binary files with the simple java.io.FileReader and different readers from String or InputStream it doesn't work. Here's the code. public class TestFile { public static void main(String[] args) throws IOException { FileReader fr = new FileReader("test.bin"); Scanner s = new Scanner(fr); while(s.hasNext()){ System.out.println(s.nextLine()); } s.close(); } } The output is like (No space after the keys!) I expected a different result but I don't understand what's going on. EDIT: I try the script from @DanielRoseman`s answer PS ~/Downloads $ cat xxxx | python -c 'import sys, binascii; s=binascii.a2b_uu(sys.stdin.read()); print s.encode()' I have the following error : Traceback (most recent call last): File "xxxx.py", line 7, in s=binascii.a2b_uu(sys.stdin.read()) UnicodeDecodeError: 'ascii' codec can't decode byte 0xe2 in position 0: ordinal not in range(128) What's going on?
