The Geth are utterly destroyed, and their invasion forces have been defeated in battle. The Gods, who have been shut in for thousands of years, think that this is the end of the world and prepare for the final battle with the God Emperor. "We are at the end." The God Emperor is tired of repeating that sentence over and over, and orders the Plenitude to destroy the gods. A young man goes to the ruins of a fallen temple. "The ruins." A youth dressed in tattered armor is fighting a mysterious man in the ruins. "This is a mask of a fallen god." The mysterious man, whom he calls "Foster." "What are you doing here, Foster?" The youth looks towards the sky, where towering clouds can be seen. "I am looking at the gods." This youth is a pupil of the Geth. With his immense power that no one has ever seen before, he will be a valuable ally. The gods are awakening. The God Emperor has turned his full attention to the new threat. "I wonder what they will be like." A young god wonders what the God Emperor's ultimate plan might be. "This world is at the end." The God Emperor's massive army prepares to take down the gods. Story arc: Future / Niflheim "Is this the end of the world?" In the future, the Earth is devastated. In the oceans, sharks devour the corpses of humanity. "Is this the fate of mankind?" Nimrod - the start of the adventure/character creation process

1. Starting in Nimrod, where you determine the formation of your characters First, you will have the opportunity to customize your character. You will be able to freely equip the weapons, armor, and magic that you've obtained thus far. In addition, you can freely combine the weapons, armor, and magic that you've equipped so far. Next, using data such as your skills and attributes, you will raise your starting classes and levels. After that, you will be guided in a trial to raise your attributes through leveling, and gain the most out of your class and level to become the "Elden Lord" who ultimately defeats the Elden Lord who rules over the lands of the Lands Between.
2. Freely explore, battle, and negotiate in the world of Lands Between A vast world where open fields with a variety of situations and huge dungeons with complex and three-dimensional designs are seamlessly connected, and there are rumors that the creature who has been seen in the region is named "Mewin"... Along with the opening of the new story, which is being told through fragments of the original story, a new story has also been added. Using your experience, your interactions, and the content of the fragments, the story will be created and compiled.

Combat/Battles and Creatures Your combat experience from past adventures in the Lands Between will be combined with new rules and weapons to create a combat experience where the strategy you use and the enemies you face will change each time you play. In addition, the battles are divided into two types to ensure that each battle becomes a significant experience - "boss battles" for the challenge of defeating Elden Lords, and "normal battles" for others. If you engage in a "normal battle", you will be able to freely fight many monsters of various types and levels. Even when you defeat them, the results are not determined, so you will be able to evaluate the various tactics you used in the battle. An extraordinary appearance and a strong force of soul reflect your combat abilities, but you will be unable to see each monster's appearance as a result of the fog that is surrounding the battlefield. You must first determine the enemy's general characteristics in order to realize the tactics necessary to confront it.

One mission takes you into the cutscene in increments until the infamous “All of this.” doorway results in a grisly end; given my rather light play time with the early access build of Unreal 4, while I couldn’t tell you what’s so terrifying in the final segment, those screaming enemies and the ominous music had me trembling in my chair.

But the story here is a little different. I’m given the opportunity to walk through a series of event scenes that form a narrative, where combat elements come one
