October 29, 2016 - 4 min - Uploaded by Meks A video tutorial from Graphics Gorilla showing how to create a well designed landing page using a new, FREE tool: Sorcery. This is an easy way to create a basic wireframe page with nothing more than an image, text, and background color. It can be used to create a foundation for any kind of design. You don't have to worry about colors or fonts. You don't even need to edit the background color. A clean, minimalist landing page doesn't take that much effort. Create your wireframe in Photoshop, drop it into a new layer. Then, create your background color and text. After that, just drag the texture (anyone of your images) over the background layer. Once it's there, change the layer mode to Screen and fill it with the same color as your background. Add an image to the page and place it on top of the background. Choose a font and let it flow. Now, you're ready to start designing. Watch the video tutorial to see how easy this can be. In the long run, Sorcery is a great way to create a lot of simple yet effective landing pages. Using a tool like this, you don't have to spend countless hours tweaking things. Sorcery will give you a good idea of how things are supposed to look. The possibilities are endless.

The Adobe Photoshop Cleanup Window - See Every Tool's Purpose In previous tutorials, we've covered a lot of the Photoshop tools. However, we haven't talked much about the cleanup window. A lot of people don't even know it exists. If you've ever lost a lot of work because you forgot about the window, you can't imagine how frustrating that can be. We're about to change that. Now you'll know exactly what everything in Photoshop is for. Using the Clean
