Why OpenVPN? This guide introduces you to OpenVPN, an open-source software that allows you to create an encrypted tunnel between one or more of your devices. What you need to know Before you get started, let's make sure you've got everything you need. OpenVPN Client You will need a program that can create OpenVPN clients. This can be done with any of the various open-source client. Web Client OpenVPN is best used in conjunction with another VPN protocol (Point-to-Point Tunneling Protocol), such as L2TP/IPSec. That protocol is used to create the tunnel. A web client can be used for convenience or for use on devices with limited processing power. Installation Notes After downloading the software, double-click on the installation file to begin the install. The installation program will then scan your computer for other software. Step 3: On the Select installation type page, select OpenVPN 2.0 Express. Step 4: Click Install to begin the installation. Step 5: On the Select install destination page, choose the option to put the OpenVPN client on your desktop. Step 6: Click Next to begin the installation. Step 7: Click Finish to complete the installation. To use a client on your computer, double-click the client's icon on your desktop. After you've logged in, you will be prompted to enter a username and password for the OpenVPN server. Simply enter the information for the server's address. Click Connect to begin the connection. Next Steps If your client has an embedded web browser, you can use the browser to browse the Internet and e-mail. Other Information If you would like to be notified of
