The method of earning manpoint is slightly different from conventional RPGs. We are pursuing a fair balance between the aspects that make an RPG enjoyable and what separates it from other genres. Because of that, we have made a system that allows you to earn manpoints from liberating a certain amount of money, defeating strong foes, and gathering treasure.

When you earn a level of 200 or more manpoints, you will be able to record the battle screen of the game for a short time.

Also, you can login online and challenge other players with an increased manpoint. This will raise your level, and then you can challenge other players again when the time comes.

The feature will be available at a launch in October 2017.
